TWENTY-THIRD STREET.

SIXTH AVENUE AND

6th Ave., 21st to

22d Street

In Spite of Disagreeable Weather == General Trade Depression, and the Business Stagnation peculiar to this month, our July trade thus far has proven an unexpected continuation of and improvement upon our Spring trade—the biggest it has ever been our good fortune to experience. Consequently, while our competitors were trying to get rid of what Summer Goods they had, we were still buying, and, buying so late, we virtually made our own prices. This explains the unprecedented
